To whomsoever it may concern,

Greetings,

Firas Ayari worked as Mobile Application Developer from June-August 2018, at our world headquarters in Atlanta, USA office. His primary responsibilities included analysis, design & development of complex Android applications. His other responsibilities included technology requirements gathering, documentation and technology presentations to senior management.

Firas is a good listener and team player. He is a natural leader and sensitive to the needs of his team. He led the development of our "Enrollment" Android app and delivered it on time. He possesses wide range of technical skills, especially in software programming & debugging. I was particular impressed with his tenacity & patience to debug hard technology problems.

I would rate Firas in the top 2% of the software professionals of his experience level. Loved working with him and would not hesitate to hire a dependable guy like him into our team again. I would strongly recommend Firas Ayari for your consideration. I have no doubt that he would be an asset to your company.

Feel free to reach out to me for any further information. I can be reached at yash.pakala@trustlogics.com.
