

ABOUT ME

I am a highly motivated, dedicated and internationally experienced person. In every occasion, I try to be open for new input in order to use it to expand and complement my knowledge and skills. I am a persuasive person with a strong focus on problem-solving and decision-making. Therefore, I firmly believe that responsibility and assertiveness represent key components when it comes to performing a task efficiently. Currently, I am enrolled in the CEMS Master in International Management program of the University of Cologne and actively looking for further possibilities in order to gather more practical experience.
